The Murder of Jesse James.

From the Sedalia Democrat.

"Let not Caesar's servile minions,
Mock the lion thus laid low;
Twas no foeman's hand that slew him,
Twas his own that struck the blow."

Not one among all the hired cowards, hard on the hunt for blood-money, dared face this wonderful man, one even against twenty, until he had disarmed himself and turned his back to his assassin, the first and only time in a career which has passed from the realms of an almost fabulous romance into that of history.

We called him outlaw, and he was; but fate made him so. When the war came he was turned of fifteen. The border was all aflame with steel, and ambuscade, and slaughter. He flung himself into a band which had a black flag for a banner and devils for riders. What he did he did, and it was fearful. But it was war. It was Missouri against Kansas. It was Jim Lane and Jennison against Quantrrell, Anderson and Todd.

When the war closed Jesse James had no home. Proscribed, hunted, shot, driven away from among his people, a price put upon his head—what else could the man do, with such a nature, except what he did do? He had to live. It was his country. The graves of his kindred were there. He refused to be banished from his birthright, and when he was hunted he turned savagely about and hunted his hunters. Would to God he were alive to make a righteous butchery of a few more of them.

There never was a more cowardly and unnecessary murder committed in all America than this murder of Jesse James. It was done for money. It was done that a few men might get all the money. He had been living in St. Joseph for months. The Fords were with him. He was in the toils, for they meant to betray him. He was in the heart of a large city. One word would have summoned five hundred armed men for his capture or extermination. Not a single one of the attacking party need to have been hurt. If, when the house had been surrounded, he had refused to surrender, he could have been killed on the inside of it and at long range. The chances for him to escape were as one to ten thousand, and not even that; but it was never intended that he should be captured. It was his blood the bloody wretches were after, blood that would bring money in the official market of Missouri.

And this great Commonwealth leagued with a lot of self-confessed robbers, highwaymen, and prostitutes to have one of its citizens assassinated, before it was positively known that he had ever committed a single crime worthy of death.

Of course everything that can be said about the dead man to justify the manner of the killing, will be said; but who is saying it? Those with the blood of Jesse James on their guilty souls. Those who conspired to murder him. Those who wanted the reward, and would invent any lie or concoct any diabolical story to get it. They have succeeded, but such a cry of horror and indignation at the infernal deed is even now thundering over the land that if a single one of the miserable assassins had either manhood, conscience, or courage, he would go as another Judas and hang himself. But as sure as God reigns, there never was a dollar of blood-money obtained, yet which did not bring with it perdition. Sooner or later there comes a day of vengeance. Some among the murderers are mere beasts of prey. These, of course, can only suffer though cold, or hunger, or thirst; but whatever they dread most, that thing will happen.

Others again among the murderers are sanctimonious devils, who plead the honor of the State, the value of law and order, the splendid courage required to shoot an unarmed man in the back of the head; and these will be stripped to their skin of all their pretensions, and made to shiver and freeze, splotched as they are and spotted and piebald with blood, in the pitiless storm of public contempt and condemnation. This to the leaders will be worse than death.

Nor is the end yet. If Jesse James had been hunted down as any other criminal, and killed while trying to escape or in resisting arrest, not a word would have been said to the contrary. He had sinned and he had suffered. In his death the majesty of the law would have been vindicated; but here the law itself becomes a murderer. It leagues with murderers. It hires murderers. It aids and abets murderers. It borrows money to pay and reward murderers. It promises immunity and protection to murderers. It is itself a murderer—the most abject, the most infamous, and the most cowardly ever known to history. Therefore this so-called law is an outlaw and these so-called executors of the law are outlaws. Therefore Jesse James' comrades—and he has a few remaining worth all the Fords and Littles that can be packed together between St. Louis and St. Joe—do unto them as they did unto him. Yes, the end is not yet, nor should it be. The man had no trial. What right had any officer of this state to put a price upon his head and hire a band of cut-throats and highwaymen to murder him for money? Anything can be told of men. The whole land is filled with liars, and robbers, and assassins. Murder is easy for a hundred dollars. Nothing is safe that is pure, or unsuspecting, or just; but it is not to be supposed that the law will become an ally and a co-worker in this sort of a civilization. Jesse James has been murdered, first, because an immense price had been set upon his head—and there isn't a lowlived scoundrel to-day in Missouri who wouldn't kill his own father for money; and second, because he was made the scape-goat of every train-robb, foot-pad and highwayman between Iowa and Texas. Worse men a thousand times than the dead man have been hired to do this thing.

The very character of the instruments chosen shows the infamous nature of the work required. The hand that slew him had to be a traitor's! Into all the warp and woof of the devil's work there were threads woven by the fingers of a harlot. What a spectacle! Missouri, with splendid companies and regiments of militia. Missouri, with a hundred and seventeen sheriffs, as brave and as efficient on the average as any men on earth. Missouri, with a watchful and vigilant marshal in every one of her principal towns and cities. Missouri with every screw, and cog, and crank and lever, and wheel of her administrative machinery in perfect working order. Missouri—boasting of law, order, progress, and development—had yet to surrender all these in the face of a single man—a hunted, lied upon, proscribed, and outlawed man, trapped and located in the midst of thirty-five thousand people, and ally with some five or six cut throats and prostitutes that the majesty of the law might be vindicated, and the good name of the state saved from all further reproach! Saved! Why, the whole state reeks to-day with a double orgy, that of lust and that of murder. What the men failed to do, the women accomplished. Tear the two bears from the flag of Missouri. Put thereon in place of them as more appropriate, a thief blowing out the brains of an unarmed victim, and a brazen harlot, naked to the waist and splashed to the brows in blood.

Joseph Jefferson the actor, has presented to his life-long friend, Attorney-General Brewster, a fine view of Southern landscape, painted by himself.

Pedro Pino, the venerable Zuni chief, is a gallant and ingenious gentleman. His compliments are always adroit. Whenever he has been in the company of ladies in Washington he has been careful to say that he considered all the American women, without exception, beautiful. He has occasionally in the language of Indian courtesy said to middle-aged women: "You are my mother," but he is always prompt in adding: "Not that you are old enough to be so, but you are much wiser than I am, that I learn from you."

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVE., MAY 4, 1882.

TERMS:—The EVENING BULLETIN is published daily, and served free of postage at 6 cents per week; 25 cents per month; 75 cents per three months; $1.50 per six months, and $3 per year, payable in advance.

THE EVENING BULLETIN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION IN THIS CITY, CHESTER AND ABERDEEN, OHIO, THAN ANY OTHER PAPER PUBLISHED IN MAYSVILLE.

THE House of Representatives has concurred in the Senate amendments to the Chinese bill.

JUDGE James Harbeson, of Flemingsburg, is named as a candidate for congress in this district. Dr. A. G. Browning, of Mt. Carmel, is also favorably mentioned.

CAPT. JACK, a famous White River, Ute Indian, leader in the Thornburg and Meeker massacre, was killed in Wyoming Territory, while trying to escape from the military. He was a treacherous and blood thirsty chieftain, who beside the massacre named has perpetrated numerous outrages on defenseless settlers.

It is stated in Washington "on excellent authority," that the tariff commission, should its creation be authorized by congress, will not contain any "extreme" free traders. It is suggested that the Republican members shall be representatives of the industries of the country; the others will be "moderate men."

THE news comes from England of a change of policy toward Ireland. The Chief Secretary of Ireland has resigned, and the three imprisoned members of Parliament have been released. Gladstone has made the statement in the House of Commons that the Government will not renew the Coercion Act, but will introduce a measure remedying the administration of justice in Ireland.

In the Lexington races, Tuesday, Manmonist, Bagdad and Creosote were the winning horses.

Of the Indiana municipal elections, reports from a majority of towns indicate Republican gains.

About one thousand Odd Fellows are in Xenia, O., attending the meeting of the Grand Encampment.

Forty-five law students were examined in the Ohio Supreme Court, Tuesday, for admission to the bar.

A Guion Line steamer has made the run from New York to Queenstown in six days and twenty-two hours.

A case is in the Ohio Supreme Court, from Crawford county, to test the constitutionality of the Pond liquor law.

Parnell, Dillon and O'Kelly have been released from the Kilmainham jail, and five suspects from the prison at Dublin.

The Association of Superintendents of Insane Asylums will hold its annual meeting in Cincinnati, the last of the present month.

The U. S. House has passed bills for public buildings at Hannibal, Mo., and Quincy, Ill., and the Senate bill for a like building at Peoria, Ill.

A battle was fought near Yarmora, Mexico, between troops and bandits, in which the former were badly defeated, their commander being killed.

Fridolin Schumann, the first saloon-keeper to be tried in the Cincinnati police police court for a violation of the Smith Sunday, law was found guilty.

H. Whiting, a negro barber, at Charleston, W. Va., while drunk shot and killed Samuel Greaver, a white man. It is expected the negro will be lynched.

At the Cabinet meeting Tuesday, it was decided that the President should issue a proclamation for the lawless cow-boys in Arizona to disperse, and if the order is not obeyed, to use the military to enforce it.

An organization has been formed at Springfield, Ill., under the name of the American Southdown Breeders' Association, for collection, revision, preservation and publication of the history and pedigree of pure-bred Southdown sheep.

At the Indian Bureau in Washington the belief is that Indian troubles in Arizona are over for the present. Officers of the bureau say the band of Indians which did all the mischief numbered about four hundred all told; that they were making their way into Mexico, and will probably get into that country now before the troops can catch them.

The Oregon democracy have declared or free trade.

The recent stock sales in the neighborhood of Lexington aggregated $100,000.

PREPARATIONS are being made for a large acreage of tobacco this year in Kentucky. The increase is estimated at from twenty to thirty per cent. over last year. The increase will be chiefly of white burley.

There is little or no damage reported to plants from the freeze; none, in fact, where protected. Of course, as is always the case, there is some complaint of fly, but there is every indication that plants will be abundant, and a very full crop set.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William, (an Indian remedy,) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothng medicine. Lotions instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense Itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. William's Pile Ointment; I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment.

Skin Diseases Cured

BY DR. FRAZIER'S MAGIC OINTMENT. Cures as if by magic, pimples, black head or grubs, blotches and eruptions on the face, leaving the skin clear, healthy and beautiful. Also cures itch, barber's itch, salt rheum, tetter, ringworm, scald head, chapped hands, sore nipples, sore lips, old obstinate ulcers and sores, &c.

SKIN DISEASE.

F. Drake, Esq., Cleveland, O., suffered beyond all description from a skin disease which appeared on his hands, head and face, and nearly destroyed his eyes. The most careful doctoring failed to help him, and after all had failed he used Dr. Frazier's Magic Ointment and was cured by a few applications.

The first and positive cure for skin diseases ever discovered.

Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whisky beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetter, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest blessings.

BATCHELDER'S Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.

Indispensable to Merchants Shippers And Producers.

THE CHEAPEST AND THE BEST

THE ONLY PRACTICAL

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray fitted ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case, without rehandling.

For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.

The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breaking, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.

Shipper's No. 1, 30 doz. Case with Fillers complete - - - - - 65 Cents.

Alarming Spread of Smallpox at Cincinnati.

A despatch from Cincinnati says:

Notwithstanding the warm weather the smallpox is still on the increase in this city. The health authorities seem inefficient to prevent the spread of the disease. The city is thoroughly permeated with the seeds of infection, and has lost millions of dollars of its usual trade on account of the epidemic. Strong pressure has been brought to bear on the newspapers to suppress the fact, but they are at last forced to admit the alarming state of the case. The Gazette says, editorially:

The smallpox has taken deep root in Cincinnati. It has damaged and is damaging the business of this city. Twenty-five per cent. of all the taxes levied would not repair the injury done to our trade. The press has been appealed to in this emergency to refrain from publishing the facts. But this would not be honest, nor would it help matters if the press could be persuaded to exclude from its columns the reports indicating the progress of the disease. The trouble is with the Board of Health. This is the creature of the City Council. There is money in it, and it is being run for the money that is in it, and not for the protection of the health of the city.

Goldsmith's Stable.

The Secretary of the Trotting Association has just received a letter from Alden Goldsmith, proprietor of Walnut Grove Farm, Orange county, N. Y., enclosing entries for seven of his best horses. This farm produced the celebrated Goldsmith Maid, and will present horses here none the less fleet. The entries are all full and the people can rely on some fine sport.

Ask for National Export.

No beverage has gained such a widespread reputation as Moerlein's Lager Beer, which is bottled by the National Lager Beer Bottling Company, of Cincinnati, O. Nothing but the best old lager beer manufactured is bottled by the "National," and this accounts for the great reputation it has acquired for putting up a good article. The company ships beer to all parts of the globe, and every one proclaims it as the beverage of the nation. The company makes it their special business to bottle only genuine Export Lager Beer, and, having inaugurated the plan, it proposes to so continue the original intention that not only here, but in all parts of the country, the reputation of the beer will be kept up to the highest altitude. m15t

BLUEBELLS.

Ah me! how many years have flown,
Since I, who wander now alone,
That April morning stood!
With my one friend beneath the trees,
While wonderful wild harmonies
Rang through the bluebell wood

The year was young, the world was sweet,
Our hearts were young, and leapt to greet
The gladness of the day;
No cloud was on the April sky.
We laughed aloud, scarce knowing why,
Along the woodland way.

And like a carpet on the ground,
The azure bluebells all around
In fair profusion grew.
Among the flowers I sat me down.
And wove my friend a dainty crown
Of tender blossoms blue.

I placed the circlet with delight
Upon her forehead smooth and white;
The azure of her eyes
Might put to shame the bluest flower,
That ever grew in sheltered bower
Beneath the softest skies.

Ah me, my friend, my one dear friend!
Our peasant Spring-time had an end,
We left the fairy ways,
The mystic paths of sweet romance,
The girlish round song and dance,
For life's bewildering maze.

Now here, alone, within the wood,
Where in youth's bluebell-time we stood,
I sit me down to-day.
My heart fresh-stung with sharp regret,
Because thy path from mine is set
So very far away.

But, dear, my tears are selfish tears,
For God hath blessed thy happy years
With blessings wide and deep;
Thy Summertime came at Spring-time's close,
And for thy bluebells, gave love's rose
For evermore to keep.

Yea, God hath given thee all the good
Of maiden-time and matronhood
Youth's Spring and Summer's prime;
And now life's reddening Autumn leaves
Fall softly on love's gathered sheaves,
Bound up for Winter-time.

Friend, if to me when Spring-time died,
Was given no glorious Summer-time,
If never happy May
Succes'd April's shower and sun,
And if, when bluebell time was done,
No roses lit my way,

If evermore my heart does miss
A joy foregone, love's crowning bliss,
I know the lesson meant;
If wanting stars of earthly love,
I know one brighter shines above,
My friend, I am content?

WHITE ELEPHANT.

The Great Showman in Hopes of a New Treat For American Sightseers.

Mr. P. T. Barnum has begun negotiations with a view of obtaining from the King of Siam a white elephant. Hitherto the government has never allowed one of the sacred animals to be sent out of the country, believing that their god will one day exhibit himself in a white elephant, and fearing lest it might be the very one they might allow to go away. They would thus lose the soul of their deity, a contingency too appalling to be calmly contemplated. Mr. Barnum has been sending some valuable presents to King Somdet Phra Paraminda Maha Chulalum Kam, a very intelligent young gentleman, good English scholar and friendly to the Americans. The king of showmen does not propose to buy, but merely to borrow the elephant for purposes of exhibition. He was rather surprised when he found that his plan had seen daylight in the newspapers, but admitted that the statement was correct. He added that he had obtained permission from the State Department to send as gifts whatever could be despatched legitimately, through the consular mail, and among the presents was a photograph of the twenty-two elephants belonging to the "Great Show on Earth," of Jumbo and the Baby. Mr. Barnum is quite sanguine of success, and, as Aladdin fixed his hopes upon the roc's egg, has now placed his upon being able one day to show to the people of America a borrowed white elephant, for the safe return of which he has given bonds to the King of Siam.

Ex-Senator Thurman has just appeared in a Columbus court as counsel in a case with which he became connected nearly twenty years ago. All the original parties to the suit except one are dead. It is the first time in several years that Mr. Thurman has acted as counsel.

The Chinese Minister at Washington appears at official receptions in a garment of palm-colored satin with collar of blue velvet worn over a robe of white silk brocaded with circles and dragons, and the black satin cap worn indoors. He keeps his hands hidden in the folds of his great sleeves, and surveys the crowd through his spectacles with an impressive and heavy dignity.
